Route:

Turn right through the gates to the Yew Tree Lodge and follow the

In 50 metres turn right downhill (this is a private road but is a right of way) pass the front of the Bibury Court and cross the river to go through some old mill buildings. At the top of the rise go through a gate and down the track. At the top of the next rise go through a gate and take the track to the left into a copse 8. Ignore a track going right and go downhill to a second gate into a meadow. 9.

Bear half left and follow this path along the Coln valley back to the Yew Tree Lodge. 10 Go out to the road, turn left. Pass the New Inn on your right on your way back to the start point.
