

Miles Without Stiles

Cleeve Hill and Common

Roam across the Cotswolds' highest common for fabulous views to the Malverns and into Wales. But if the top is covered by cloud you will be wise to come on another day.

Distance: 6.5km/4miles with an up and down of 168m/550ft and some steep sections.

Time: 2½ hours

Start: Cleeve Common, off the B4632 3 miles north of Cheltenham at top of hill. Drive up narrow lane signed to golf club and at the top cross a bumpy cattle grid and turn L on rough track into old quarry car park. SO 989/271 satnav GL52 3PW.

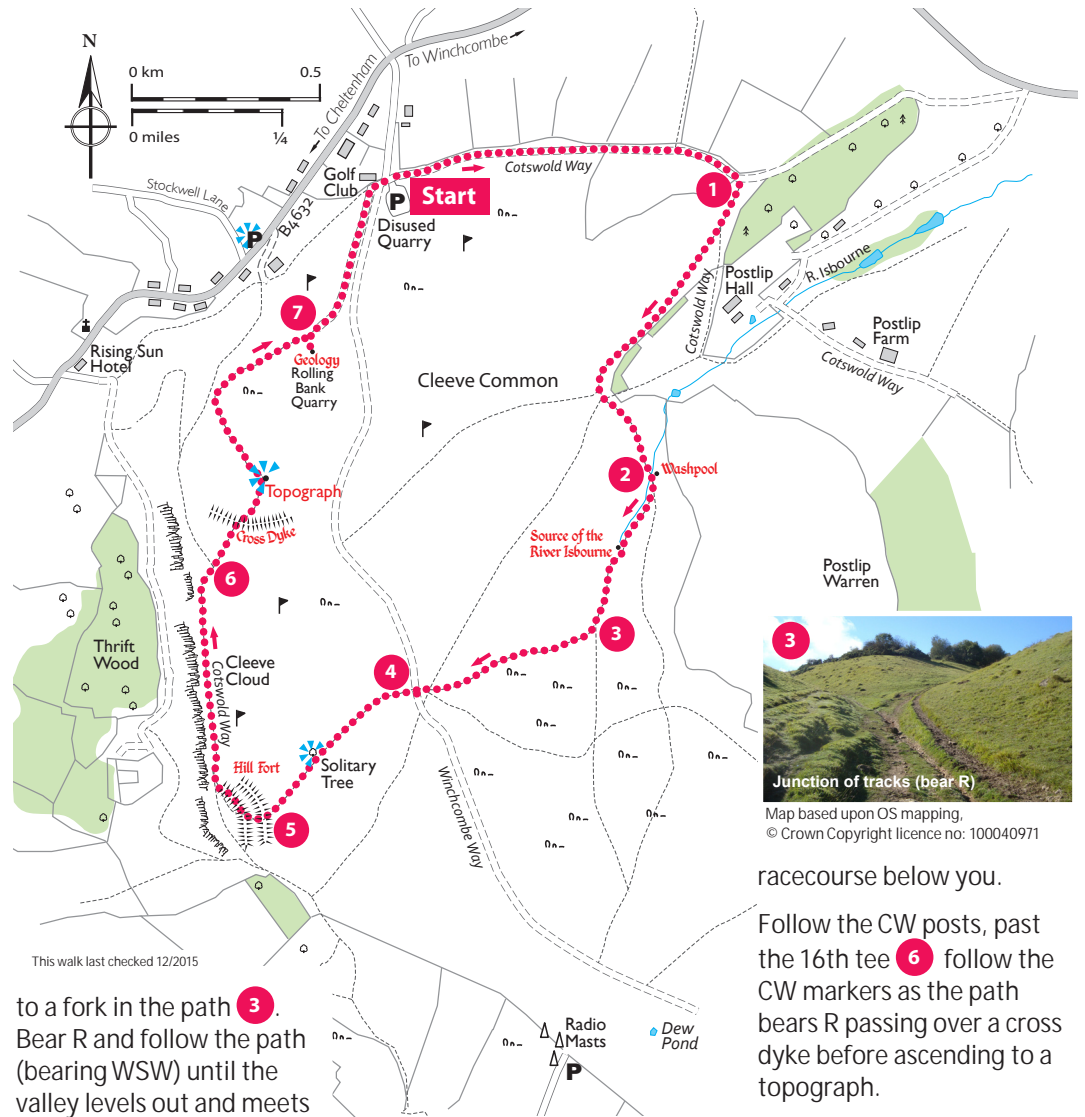

Refreshments: Municipal golf clubhouse open to the public.

Route: Exit the quarry car park and turn R to follow the track signposted Cotswold Way (CW) past the tee. Go through a gate and continue to another gate 1.

Here the path splits, take the middle path and bear slightly R as the path descends to a CW post. Ignore the L-hand path (CW) and continue ahead on a level grassy track to meet a wall and trees on your L. The track widens and curves L to meet a small pond and a sheep washpool (More about that on page 2) on the L.

Follow the track to a white post 2 and turn R following the lower path up the valley floor following the stream. Further up by some loose stone on the R water bubbles out of the ground, the source of the River Isbourne.

to a fork in the path 3. Bear R and follow the path (bearing WSW) until the valley levels out and meets a track joining from the R. Turn L and walk 50m up to a well-defined track with a Winchcombe Way sign 4.

At the post turn R and follow the track for 60m; cross the main track and continue straight on along a grassy track, bearing slightly L where the path splits. Walk across the common keeping the radio masts to your L and head for a solitary tree inside a stone wall, with all-round views.

From the tree aim towards the centre of Cheltenham in the distance (SW) to a hill fort approx. 200 m ahead. (head towards the three trees and turn R to circle the hill fort). Turn L at the golf green.

At the fort 5 turn R along the top of the mound (N), skirt L around a golf green and head for a CW post. You are now on the scarp edge of the Cotswolds with Cheltenham and its racecourse below you.

Follow the CW posts, past the 16th tee 6 follow the CW markers as the path bears R passing over a cross dyke before ascending to a topograph.

Here turn L (west) and descend to a CW post, bear L and follow the CW posts. The path levels and further on you reach disused quarries on the R. Before two CW posts close together, turn R towards a small exposed cliff face in a disused quarry 7.

A notice board here explains the geology. Retrace your footsteps to the path; turn R to follow the now stony track back to the clubhouse and the quarry car park.
